

Who will cry for the Orphan Child

The Home For Good Foundation

Who will cry for the orphan boy who is lonely all his years
Who will cry for the orphan girl whose eyes have run out of tears

Who will give an orphan child the things they really need
Like home and love and family, yes who will hear and heed

Who will love an orphan child, the Bible says we should
Who will give an orphan child a loving home for good

Who will love an orphan child, the Bible says we must
Who will give an orphan child a sense of belonging and trust

We live in a culture that has it all, but tells us we need more
Will orphans without home or love ever see our door

What use is faith that fails to love the orphans as we should God gave us wealth so we could give an orphan a home for good

What use is faith that says to a child who desperately needs a home
"Go in peace, be warmed and filled", but then leaves her all alone

How can I tell an orphan child of a God who loves them so
They'll never understand God's love, if my love they don't know

How can I tell them Jesus died to take away their sin
They won't care that Jesus died when they are dying within

God said we're all orphans here, and sent Jesus to pave the way
And if we accept His gift of love, we're a Child of God today

Adoption is God's proof of love according to His Word
Adoption is the word of love the orphan has never heard

Adoption is God's gift of love, the love that we all need
Adoption is the orphans cry, but who will hear and heed

Who will cry for the orphan child, it's something they cannot do
But, who will cry for the orphan child? If they can't, Will you?

Listen to the song that was inspired by this poem: www.hfgf.org/whowillcry.html

We recognize that not all are called to adopt, but anyone can love and minister to orphan children in a practical and meaningful way by helping other families adopt. Children long for a loving family, and many families are longing to adopt. Why not sponsor a child's adoption?

Families who visit orphanages often report being shocked to discover that most orphan children never cry because their crying is ignored. Figuratively speaking, their eyes have cried out of tears.

copyright © 2007 Gerald D. Clark Author grants duplication privileges for non-commercial ministry use only. Any such use must include this copyright notice. No commercial use or duplication is authorized without express written consent of the Home For Good Foundation www.hfgf.org