

What Home For Good Does

Six years working with children in a mission orphanage in the Philippines is why we state with such strong conviction that “Children just don’t want to be orphans.” We’ve discovered there are families in churches everywhere who would love to adopt, but are deterred by the high cost of adoption. That’s why we established the Home For Good Foundation, to bring orphan children into God’s family via the ministry of adoption. Adoption is the best way to evangelize orphan children, and adoption ministry in the local church is the fastest and most effective way to raise funds for adoption, and can raise more support than any foundation will grant!

We accomplish our mission by encouraging, equipping, educating, challenging and assisting anyone interested in orphan ministry and adoption, to start and conduct an independent adoption ministry in their own home church.

Home For Good Foundation is incorporated in the State of Oregon, and duly registered as a non-profit organization. To date we have worked with hundreds of people, many of whom have started adoption ministries in their own home churches all across the U.S., and we have established a similar work in Africa and the Philippines. We would love to help you start an adoption ministry in your church, or in any another country where God may be calling you.

Our Mission is to establish Adoption as a dedicated Ministry of as many churches as possible in countries around the world, and to equip as many people as possible who will also establish Adoption Ministries in multiple churches.

What We Do Not Do

- We do not seek support from local churches to fund Home For Good ministries.
- We are not attempting to establish branches of Home For Good in any local church.
- We are not an adoption agency, and do not match families with children
- We do not operate an orphanage, a foster home or an adoption agency.

We are advocates for orphan children and adopting families within the body of Christ, His church.
